

I recreate in a friend my own world-- or take to me his new one--and we two look at one mirror from different sides.

