

Coming Together

There was an event that occurred on Friday this year that seemed to unite our school. It was the Jim Tuman Assembly. Mr. Tuman talked to us about the importance of opening up and telling our feelings to others and urged us to do so. Throughout this afternoon a lot of tears were shed and a new understanding about the feelings of our fellow students, faculty, and administration was reached. Many of the barriers that had separated people or groups of people were overcome. From this afternoon the different smaller songs of the individual groups became united in one larger, more harmonious song.
