

Draw It Up

TURN IT UP

Heidi Harlow, Shawn Sopocy and Michelle Wolfe look on as Mrs. Gearhart explains the fine art of paper mache. This year the seventh grade was able to create animals of all types out of paper mache.

"Hands On" Class Generates Interest

Have you ever dreamed of being able to draw and create beautiful pieces of art that you could show off? If so, Mrs. Marilyn Gearhart has both the patience and knowledge to teach such art skills as drawing, painting, and creating pottery. When asked what is the hardest part of creating art, Mrs. Gearhart replied, "Choosing what to make from all the different ideas is the only difficult part."

Students of all ages turned out many unique and interesting art projects this year. Lori Haruska said that she liked ceramics class because, "I like making things I can take home and keep."

Mrs. Gearhart's seventh grade class was able to experiment with paper mache. "I liked being able to get dirty and make a unicorn," said Melinda Carriero.

Mike Sperling, Dave Krull, and Bob Surdock spend third hour learning the basics of drawing in Mrs. Gearhart's first semester drawing class. Mrs. Gearhart teaches her drawing students how to sketch three point perspective houses and still life drawings.

When asked what she liked most about teaching at AHS, Mrs. Gearhart replied, "I like the size of the school most, because you get to know the kids a lot better."
