Freshmen Hard Workers

"They're in a class of their own," stated one teacher. The freshman class has earned the reputation of being hard working scholars, and the teachers recognize that admirable quality. Enthusiasm and determination are adjectives which describe them well. As a class they work together; they are no quitters in this class. They give their best to make their school better and they add that extra spirit when things are dull and boring. Basically, they're "off the wall."

Joe Schmidt and Perry Thompson are just two of the many hard working students in the freshman class. ▲
