

DAVE KELLER SKIES for two. Despite his effort, the Bears lost to the St. Louis Sharks, 32-50.

Uniforms left at home?

A score of 15 points? No matter . . .

JV Bears Pull Through

Despite the fact that the boys traveled to Portland St. Pats and scored only 15 points, an unusually low score; and despite the fact that two of the starters forgot to bring their uniforms to an away game; and despite the fact that Coach Hendricks had visions of winning more games, the boys played hard and gave their all throughout the season.

The team shone when they faced the Byron Eagles on Parents' Night. Coach Hendricks, decked out in a huge, brown bow tie, instructed the team calmly to make sure they were ready to play when their turn came. The boys listened well, for when they were put out on the floor, they demonstrated hustle and determination. Sophomore guard, Chad Felton, was put on the line in the final few seconds and given the chance to prove his free-throwing skills. The pressure may have made his knees shake a little, but it did nothing to alter his concentration; he swished both of the shots, and helped the Bears beat the Eagles, 42-41. This game, in the eyes of Coach Hendricks, was the highlight of the season.

This team proved that obstacles such as forgotten uniforms and low-scoring games can be overcome!
