

A SUNDAY AFTERNOON was set aside to initiate the 1987-88 FHA officers. Other members, along with their mothers, also enjoyed ice cream and cake. Freshman, Ann Miller, is involved in FHA because she gets to meet new people and become better acquainted with her fellow students.

Red and white checkered tableclothes, cake and ice cream, murmuring voices and laughing friends. What do these all add up to? The 1988 FHA Initiation Banquet.

This was the first year since 1985 that there has been an induction banquet. After a catered dessert, Mrs. Bongard, advisor, presented each of the officers with a membership pin and a red rose. Then President Julie Kremer presented the remaining members with a membership pin.

For many members, the most exciting part of the afternoon came after the induction ceremony when each member introduced her mother and offered humorous little anecdotes. Then after some casual conversation, the banquet came to an end.

"It was really fun and I'd like to see it continue," remarked Sheila Keck.
