Exciting Sport

Basketball, football, and baseball are Ashley sports but so is four-wheeling, to Tim Bradley. Tim raced his four-wheeler on Crystal Lake from January to March of his senior year.

According to Tim, four-wheeling involves quite a bit of work, such as making sure the racing machine is in good condition.

Tim remarked, "Four-wheeling interests me. I like to work with engines and go fast. You can practice at your convenience and you learn from your mistakes. Most of all, you're in the action all the time." He was in plenty of action. Just before the photo at the right was snapped, Tim turned the corner and was hit by another four-wheeler and almost flipped his vehicle.

Tim maintains the most important procedure in four-wheeling is making sure you are the first one on the starting line in order to take the lead. If you take the lead and stay on the inside corner, you can be a winner.

Tim completed the racing season by coming in fourth place six times and second place twice.
