

HEATING THINGS UP in the morning is one of Jim MacLennan's wintertime jobs. Jim is definitely at school before anyone else to make sure things are running smoothly for the day

He's One Of The People Who Makes Things Happen:

Man Behind The Scenes

Another "first-yearer" here at Ashley is Jim MacLennan, our new head custodian. Jim feels that he still has a lot to learn about the custodian's job. Jim, like all janitors, doesn't leave school until everything is under control. He claims that his hardest job is keeping the boilers running, so school will be nice and warm.

Jim's not done there, however. The most challenging job is cleaning the snow off the sidewalk when it's below zero. If Jim could change anything about his job, he would ask for better equipment. Jim does other odds and ends, such as painting lines on the football field and getting the baseball field ready. He is also here at 6:00 a.m. so the school will be nice and warm. When something goes wrong, Jim's the one they call. He is always helpful, dropping whatever he is doing to help somebody else or to go somewhere he's needed. Jim doesn't get a lot of thanks, but all the work he does is pretty evident.

KEEPING THINGS CLEAN is a full time job. Duane Saylor wipes down the bleachers before a game.
