

Stepping in at the last moment.

The Maestro Improved

Miss Jennifer Arnold, working in the music department in her first year of teaching, took control of the job the hard way.

"I got hired about one week before band camp and had no knowledge about this band."

When Miss Arnold was hired, she had to prepare herself for band camp by rushing to purchase quality music; she wrote drills just two days before band camp and pulled together all of the band drills she possibly knew to get through band camp.
