

The good times, the bad, the happy times and the sad. We've whispered in the classrooms, giggled in the halls. But what really makes AHS so special? It's got to be . . .

THE PLACES

"These places are a part of us, a part we'll never forget."

The old gym, the new. The cafeteria, the art room. The band room, the portables. The shop, the library. Years from now, we'll still be able to remember the good times we've spent in these places. Everyone has at least one specific memory that makes each of these special to us. We've laughed, we've cried. We've celebrated each other's victories and shared each other's defeats. These places are so much more than just high school buildings and classrooms. They each have a personality all their own. These places are a part of us, a part we'll never forget. Just look around you. These places are AHS.
