

Working Hard

For The Top

For sure, the number one priority for JV players — boys and girls — is to improve yourself and make sure you're ready when that varsity shot comes along. These players put in as many hours of practice as anyone around; they work just as hard.

There are not many advantages of playing JV ball, but one thing Heidi Harlow liked was that there is not as much pressure put on you. Janette Stehlik laughingly added, "You're the first ones off the bus when you stop at MacDonalds."

One disadvantage Cory Gavenda touched on is that JV games start so early that hardly anyone is there to watch them and so, it's not easy to get up for a game.

This year's coaches, Mr. Sherm Hendricks and Mr. Paul Hornak, have almost as important a job as the varsity head coaches.

They must get these developing ball players ready for a varsity career.

"My job is to get these young athletes fundamentally ready for the next step up to varsity.

The more that is learned and accomplished here, the less Mr. Wayer will need to spend time on," commented junior varsity girls' coach, Paul Hornak.

STEAL THAT BALL!! Tina Pearson tries to take the ball away from a Genesee player on Parents Night.

SWISH!!! Dan Sperling scores two of his ten points against a hard fought 54-45 loss to Morrice.
