

ARE WE THERE YET? Stephanie Melvin and Jim Stehlik have found the two best ways to pass time on a long bus ride: sleeping and listening to headphones. The seniors spent a lot of time on the bus so they thought of many interesting things to do like sleep on luggage racks and in the aisle.

THE AWAKENING is an unexpected treat. It was not on the original agenda, but the seniors had extra time so they went to see this huge statue of a man emerging from the earth. Kevin Palatier, Brian Gavenda, and Jim Stehlik enjoyed climbing his face.

FOOD, FRIENDS, AND FUN are what Mark Miller, Traci Anderson (standing), and Cheryl Howe, as well as the rest of the seniors, like about the Hard Rock Cafe, a shrine to rock music. After eating, the group spent time looking at the memorabilia on the walls.

TAKING A BREAK is all the seniors are interested in doing after seeing all the old planes and rockets at the National Aerospace Museum. The Aerospace Museum was just one of the many Smithsonian Museums they visited.
