

Pride is what it is all about and these people prove it

Working Hard

IT'S AN ATTITUDE! Whether it's Mrs. Shelton helping her students, Mrs. Seals having her class circle up, Cyndi Surdock taking on a class by herself, or Miss Goodell's creative connect four game, they all have one thing in common: spirit! That's what makes Ashley what it is. Whenever anyone is asked what his or her favorite thing about Ashley is the reply is always, "The closeness, the spirit, or the special attention." They're right, too! Isn't that what Ashley is all about? Has there ever been a time when a teacher was too busy to talk about a problem a student was having? Probably not. It may take a little bit of elbow grease sometimes but most people would agree that Ashley is worth working for.

Whoever has Mrs. Seals for ninth grade English will always remember the creative projects that she received year after year connected with the reading of "Romeo and Juliet." The creativity of these projects was sometimes unbelievable. Chris Sosebee and Jim Drummond making the Siskel and Ebert movie was a lot of fun to watch. Luella Paksi showed us how talented she was with the piano by playing the theme from the play for the class.

CIRCLE UP! The reading improvement class enjoys circling up to read. Melanie Denniston, Marty Good, Justin Welch, Dave Murdock, Terry Good, and Ann Miller get ready to read the selection for the day.
