We're cool, man!

"We're a little obnoxious at times, but we're always having fun and people are there when you need them!" The class of 1993 is "Above average," as Jim Fabus puts it. With only twenty-five sophomores, fifteen girls and ten boys, this class really sticks together, and they have fun doing it. "We're all pretty much close," admits Sharon Keck.

Robin Woody describes a typical sophomore week of school as "Going to games and practice, but when we bump into each other, we talk about anything and everything."

Friendship stands tall among values in the class of 1993 and it shows. Even though they're small in size, they're big at heart. They know that friendship's where it's at!
