

TUNE IT! Heidi Vanzee, Tanya Schmidt, Shawna Bournemann "cookin'" in junior high band.

LET'S GET BUSY! Robert Mason, Wayne Cox, Ken Maier and Jason Skaryd work up a sweat in P.E., while cadet teacher Dave Keller looks on.

Diversity, Technology

Band, Shop, P.E., Business offer this and more

One of the best things about Ashley is the diversity of classes. P.E., industrial arts, business and band are a big part of that diversity.

This year industrial arts is changing to a technology — oriented program. In the past, students built projects to learn processes; now they're learning processes to build projects.

Shop gives students a chance to learn through hands-on experience and see the end result of their efforts.

Accounting is a class where you need patience and ambition. This year's class was small but spirited. "Everyday they complain about doing work," Mr. Hornak said.

In accounting you learn how to take care of money. Even if you don't go into business, budgeting money is a skill everyone needs, and accounting is where you can get it.

Physical education is an opportunity for students that lets them relax and have fun. Also, students who normally wouldn't get involved participate. This year gym class has had a different teacher on campus. Mr. Kevin Akin, a substitute, has added some fresh ideas to our physical education program. Physical education is a fun and offbeat class.

Band is a very exciting and challenging class, where everyone gets to participate. This year has been even more challenging to the band members because they have gone through three band directors. However, Ashley's band has been resilient and continues to add to Ashley's diversity.
