Groovy tunes, cool moves

Get jr. highs pumped

"I had a wonderful time. Everyone had so much fun. The music was terrific — the deejays set the whole atmosphere," raved Mrs. Connie Bongard, chaperone, about this year's junior high prom. Mrs. Bongard's enthusiasm was echoed by practically everyone who attended this year's prom. According to those who were there, the deejays and festive decorations were two elements responsible for its success.

According to Kris Sefl, "Prom was better this year because most of us dressed up and went formal. Girls took prom seriously this year, so we went out and bought new dresses, which made things more exciting." "the word for the evening was definitely glamour. The kids were gorgeous, the dresses were gorgeous," commented Mrs. Bongard.

Not only were the dresses elegant, but the decorations also added to the party mood. The emphasis of the night was on romance with silver hearts on the wall and heart mobiles dangling from the ceiling.

The deejays ... the decorations ... the dresses. Put it all together and get one perfect night.

"YOU DO THE HOKEY POKEY ..." Kevin Gavenda and David Polash find out "... that's what it's all about," as they join the circle dance. "I felt a little stupid; I don't do stuff like that, but everybody else was," Kevin admitted.

"A LITTLE BIT SOFTER NOW." Kris Sefl and Trina Sopocy dance to the song "Shout!" Kris will always remember this prom because of all the participation dances.
