

TRADITIONAL, BUT NOT REAL. Surrounding the bride and groom; wedding party Shelly Andersen, Jim Fabus, Diane Mitchell, Brandon Malek, Tim Bush, and Nicole Peters.

R. Camp

GETTING READY. Mrs. Bongard and Mary Gavenda help Diane Mitchell get ready before the family living mock wedding. Diane was a bridesmaid during the wedding.

R. Woody

Mock Wedding It's A Tradition

To some people weddings are meaningful and forever, but to Ashley High and Mrs. Bongard's Family Living class, it's an educational experience. The class teaches the students the time and preparation it takes to put on a wedding. The students made a wedding book and learned how much it costs to get married. The mock wedding gave the students a feeling for how a wedding is performed and a chance to feel some of the emotions of a marriage. Even though the wedding wasn't real, students involved in this wedding had a lot of feelings. After the wedding experience, Senior Jon Pendleton said, "It's one of my goals in life, to be married!"

The mock wedding took place in the library, with Angie Camp and Jon Pendleton acting as bride and groom. Tim Bush served as the best man, and Nicole Peters filled the role of maid of honor. The bride's attendants were Diane Mitchell and Michelle Andersen. Groomsmen were Brandon Malek and Jim Fabus. The wedding is put on every year during the Family Living class.

Andrea Becker

R. Woody

LETTING HER GO! Mr. Rick Camp gives his daughter, Angie Camp, away to her groom-to-be, Jonathon Pendleton, during the mock wedding. Mr. Camp was the first to walk his daughter down the aisle for the Family Living class.