

"I WANNA BE LIKE MIKE!" Michael Jordan hangs his tongue and heads to the basket with opponent Larry Litwiller trailing behind. The boys get together on the weekends just to kill some time.

Hangin' Around

It's home. It's a place to meet with our friends. A place to get together and laugh, maybe even cry. A place we can find excitement. Sterling Street in downtown Ashley. What's so special about the "hang-out"? It's ours! It's not our parents' hangout and it's not our teachers' hangout. It's a place to get away from things. Relax, get crazy, and kick back with our friends.

"I don't like sitting at home, alone, wondering if someone is uptown. I want to know what's going on," commented junior Stephanie Murdock.

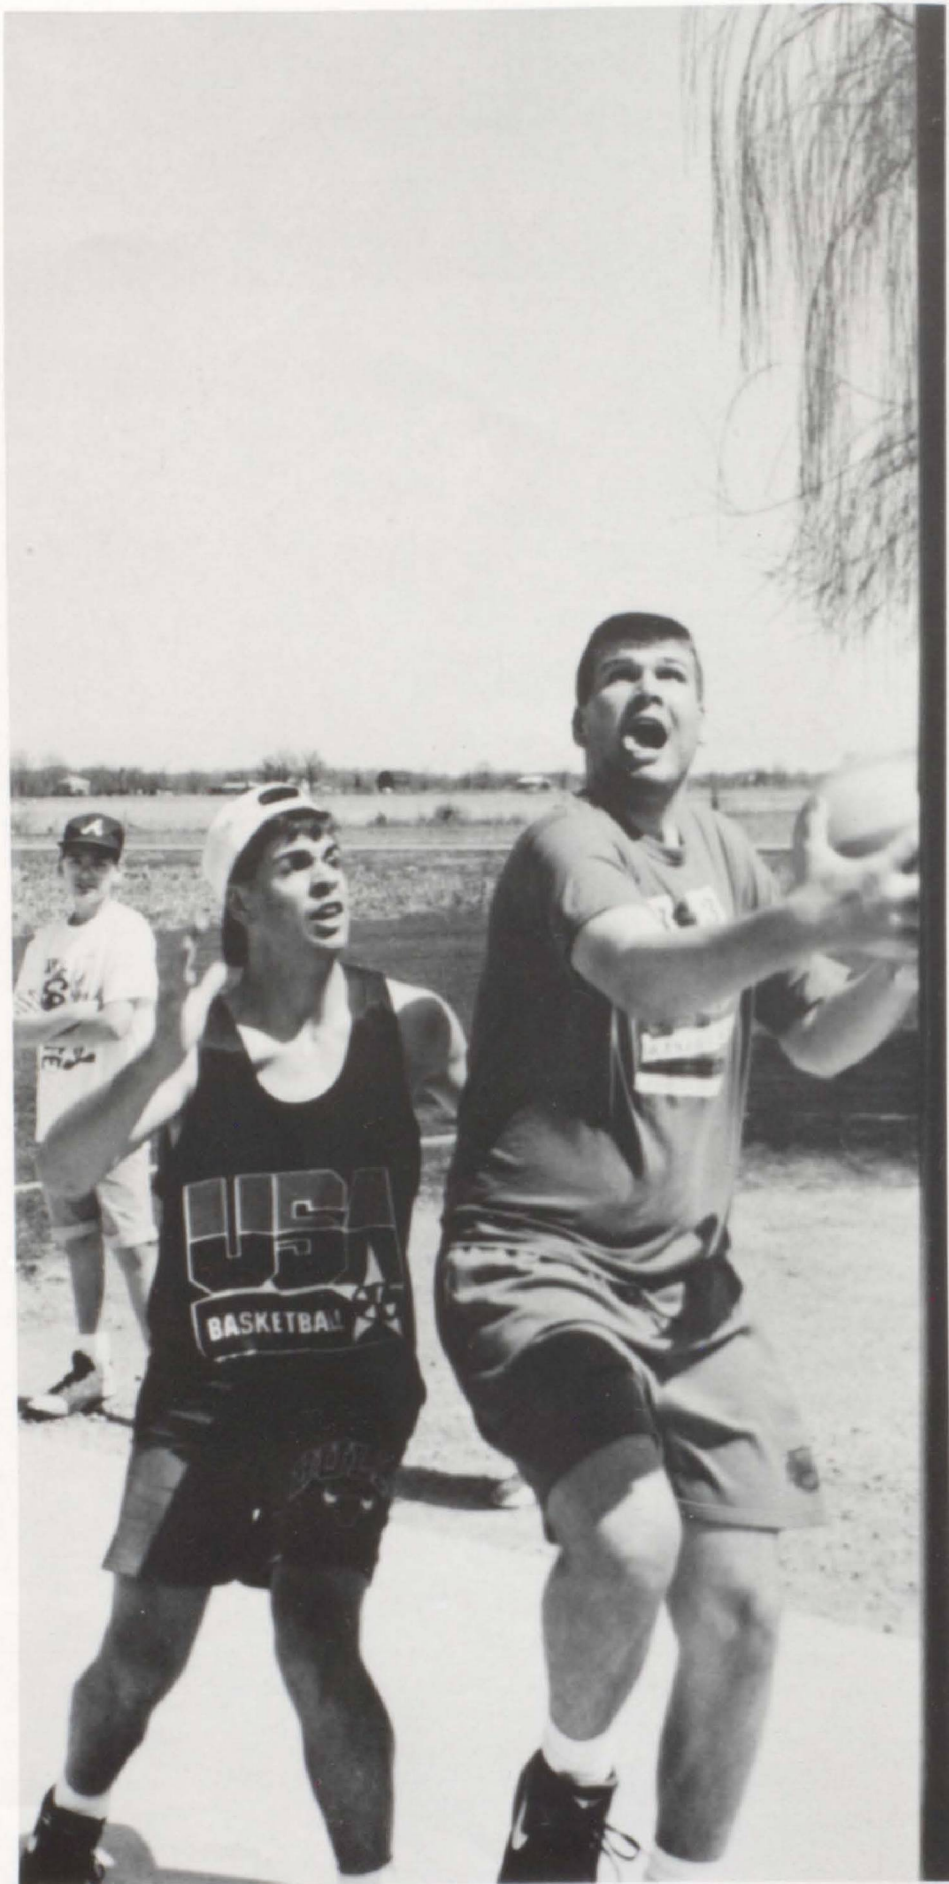

It's a social place for social people, a place students call their own.

D. Lowe

"DID YOU SAY DOWN AND TO THE RIGHT?" Jonathan Pendleton enjoys an evening back rub from Stephanie Murdock. Downtown Ashley is a favorite hangout spot on a warm spring night.

50 WEEKENDS

D. Lowe