

ORGANIZATIONS... GET STUDENTS INVOLVED!

G etting involved is what many students did this year.

Students occasionally had to sacrifice to provide time to do what had to be done. Journalism students, for example, had deadlines to meet and stories to write. "If you don't want to put a lot of time and effort in your work, then journalism isn't an organization for you," commented Stephanie Thiel.

Other group members were involved in fund raisers to support themselves and their activities. FHA once again sponsored the Junior High Prom; at Christmas they adopted a family.

Student council gave us the slave auction during Homecoming week and also raised money for the Jaws of Life. The journalism class sold ads for the yearbook and, of course also sold yearbooks. "Getting involved" was definitely the catch phrase for these three organizations.

Andrea Becker

Journalism Front row: Angie Brzak, Robin Woody Second row: Dominic Lowe, Shannan Felton, Ron Robinson Third row: Jenny Felton, Dawn Strouse, Marsha Miller, Jo Anna Thompson, Stephanie Thiel Back row: Mrs. Suzanne Luneack (Advisor), Brenda Saylor, Jenny Powelson, Andrea Becker.

Student Council Front row: Jennifer Pendleton, Brian Krueger, Kristen Fabus Second row: Marty Cartwright, Jason Pendleton, Ellery Sosebee, Dominic Lowe, Brenda Saylor, Dawn Strouse Back row: Jenny Felton, Shelly Andersen, Sara Felton, J.C. Stoll.

FHA Front row: Sarah McGillis, Dena Kostuk, Kim Contreras, Middle row: Denise Garcia, Beth Shultz, Amanda Mills, Shasta Patterson, Jenny Leiner Back row: Mandy Bearden, Brandi Burgett, Lynna Saylor, Traci Turner, Chris Cunningham, Jamie Contreras.

J. Ortman