YEARBOOK FEVER! Travis Polash signs a yearbook during the annual yearbook dance. At the beginning of the school year, the journalism class puts on the dance to raise money for yearbook expenses. This year the dance added almost $200 to the yearbook staff's available funds. Students look forward to seeing the book for the first time and having their friends sign it.

STUDENT COUNCIL AT WORK. Trina Sopocy, a representative of the sophomore class, helps the student council decorate the library to raise the Christmas spirit. The student council held many other activities for the school such as a trip to the Ithaca Town & Country and various assemblies throughout the year.

PLAYING HER ROLE. Heather VanZee helps two elementary children with their homework. Many high school students regularly volunteer their time to visit the elementary and help out wherever they are needed.
