Hard Work Pays Off
As Students Receive
Awards, Medals, Scholarships
and Become NHS Inductees

The bell rings. Students file in. Parents line the front rows of bleachers, waiting to see their child receive the award they were promised in the letter sent home. Mr. Wayer silences the crowd and announces the student council president Jenny Powelson. She welcomes everyone and then announces that Mr. Wayer will give out the seventh grade class officer awards.

As award after award is handed out, some faces are seen more often than others. Finally, it's time for the NHS tapping ceremony. NHS member Jamie Contreraz explains the criteria, then the other NHS members drift toward the bleachers to tap the new inductees on the shoulder. The new inductees serenely file toward the podium area. Mrs. Luneack, NHS advisor, extends a hearty congratulations to the inductees.

Jenny Powelson thanks everyone for coming and the students return to their seventh hour class.

"YOUR AWARD, MA'AM . . ." Mr. Paul Hornak hands out awards for scholar athletes to Amy Strouse, Kristin Fabus, Sarah Brzak, Marty Cartwright, Joe Beracy, Jason Pendleton, Dominic Lowe and Angie Brzak.

CONGRATULATIONS! David Grollmund, Robert Czeiszperger, Jamie Contreraz and Kim Contreraz receive awards for quiz team participation from Mrs. Karen Martinez. Even though the quiz team didn't win any matches, they still had fun going to the meets and getting experience for coming years.
