

UP, UP, AND AWAY! Mark Miller skies above an Ovid-Elsie defender. Mark scored 36 points in the 10 game season, for an average of 3.6 points per game.

DOUBLE TEAM!! Jason Myers and Seth Copsey gang up on a MPSH ball handler. The boys lost the championship game of the Ashley tournament, 22-47.

D. Lowe

D. Lowe

LEARNING FROM THEIR MISTAKES WINNING ISN'T EVERYTHING UNIMPRESSIVE RECORDS DON'T REPRESENT EXPERIENCE GAINED

The record may be 2 wins and 7 losses but the eighth grade boys' basketball team did not lose. According to their supporters, they put forth their best effort and did well with what they had. What they had was a string of bad luck. Two of the team members were not available for all the games; also, every home game was canceled because of bad weather.

The seventh grade boys had their share of bad luck, too, but won one more game than the eighth grade team, ending with a 3-6 record. They also came in second place at the Ashley tournament.

However, these circumstances did nothing to daunt the spirit of the teams. With every point, every pass, every rebound, these players learn skills that they will carry with them for the rest of their basketball career. David Saylor put it best when he predicted, "We'll get better every year."

Chris Porter

D. Lowe

SPEED AND ENDURANCE. Eric Fabus makes his way around a reaching Irishman of MPSH. Eric touched in 62 points and used his quickness to pick 33 steals from his opponent.