

N o Right Turns?

Students react to Board's decision.

Everyone gathers in the new gym. It's 8:30 a.m., the first day back from summer break. Mr. Wayer is making his infamous "First Day of School" speech. We know we are in trouble when he says, "Remember, I am only the messenger, not the message." Then he drops it. "Students, the Board of Education has made a decision. There will be no more right hand turns out of the student parking lot after school." Jennifer Denniston comments, "It makes me mad. I have to go out of my way to get home." The students are not happy.

Missie Dennis says, "I think it is stupid." Stupid or not, it's here to stay. On the other hand, maybe it's time to start thinking about turns.

Seniors think about the turn they are about to make from high school to college. Juniors think about being next year's seniors. Sophomores are excited about turning into upperclassmen. Freshmen worry about their GPA, and junior high kids look forward to turning into real people next year. Some turns are fun; others are serious. Not always will we be able to just have someone make the decision: "No turns!"

by Sara Jean McGillis

S Larsen

LOST! Robert Czeiszperger checks his compass to see which way he has to turn next. The Explorations in Science class used compasses to follow a route.

