

J. Morris

commented Beth. "I didn't even put my contacts in because my hands were shaking so much."

Even after the sun went down and the temperatures dropped, spirits were high. The representatives were called to the field to prepare for halftime ceremonies. Although there was only a minute left on the clock, the clock stopped several times and that one minute dragged out to ten. "They took our coats when we got to the field and we were very cold. I had only worn a shawl, and I had gloves on, but it didn't help very much," remembered Beth.

Finally, with the Bears leading Vestaburg, 12-6, halftime ceremonies began. "I was really nervous about tripping and falling or something and Dan and I had never practiced how our arms were supposed to be, so we just winged it."

Rep after rep walked regally down the field and took their places on the risers as the band played, "Somewhere Out There." Mr. Gary Schestag then announced Joe Beracy and Sarah Brzak as Homecoming King and Queen.

Was it all worth it? Beth summed it up in these words: "I would definitely do it again."

Jamie Contreras

I WISH THIS DAY WAS OVER!
As Beth Schulz arranges her dress and prepares for the annual Homecoming Parade, her tension sets in. After the day was over, she admitted it was definitely worth all the worrying and hassle.

