

school as a nerd. If being cool is more your style, you can slap on a hat and some shades for Hat and Shades day.

Later in the week you can crack your piggy bank and bid on your favorite volleyball player. The girls were a bit nervous about being sold because it was their first ever volleyball slave auction. "It was fun, but it was a little embarrassing. I didn't mind it, though, because all the money went for a good cause."

If you don't mind riding a tricycle in front of the student body and looking dumb, then you might want to volunteer to be in the relay races. "It was fun because we took first place and because everybody made a fool of themselves," commented Derek Dawson.

Even the teachers get into Twirp Week. "It's fun. Teachers need a break from their routine too. It's good to see the kids have fun," stated Mrs. Marilyn Gearhart.

Jason Saylor

J. Morris
MORE THAN A MOUTHFUL! Lisa Deming gets more than a mouthful as she tries to help the junior class in the annual Twirp Week pie eating contest. Lisa helped her class take second place in the relay races and pie eating contest.

