christmas ANGELS

National Honor Society Christmas Project a touching time for members of NHS and for family they sponsored by David Grollimund

A warm feeling takes over when you know that what you are about to do is going to make another person very happy. This feeling was in each of the National Honor Society members as they prepared to deliver an assortment of gifts at Christmas time.

Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus -- David Grollimund and Jenny McGillis -- dressed in the customary red and white outfits, while the rest of the NHS packed up the wrapped presents that had been purchased earlier that day with money raised in a bowl-a-thon two weeks prior. They then departed Mrs. Luneack's home for the family's house.

Later Jason Keck commented, "I felt real proud giving people something for once, instead of getting the gifts myself." The most touching part of all came in the form of a letter the NHS received in which they were referred to as "angels".
