

Hustle. . . Key to Winning

A seven foot-one inch center. . . A guard as good as Michael Jordan. . . These may make a team good, but without five people playing their hearts out, they mean nothing.

The Bears could be described as "aggressive and in-your-face," remarked Coach Gary Schestag. Plagued with number problems this year, the Bears had a hard time from the start. Then came injuries and a mid-season slump. Even with these problems, the Bears started with hustle, determination, and tough defense and turned them into scoring and winning. "The best moment of the season was beating Sacred Heart," said Travis Polash.

Finishing with a 12-9 record, the Bears lost the district game to Sacred Heart in a heart-breaker by one point, 64-65. Ben Crocker reflected, "I wish I could change our district game to a win."
