A new tradition of KING and queen

Romantic music, dim lights, decorations, formal clothes, people slow dancing, couples gazing into each other's eyes. What do these phrases describe? Prom 1997.

"I was impressed with this year's prom. The decorations were really nice, the students were very well behaved, and everyone looked beautiful," stated chaperone Miss Dawn Landis.

There are many things that happen at prom. Some are more favored than others.

"My favorite part of prom was the slow dancing, because it is a very special part," remarked Melissa Dennis.

This year was the start of a new tradition. As they entered, promgoers voted on queen and king. Stacie Fabus and Daniel Grollimund were selected. "I was very happy for the both of them. I thought that it was a really good idea and I hope that they continue it," commented senior Brandie Burgett.

Everyone has a different perspective on the mood of prom. "I thought it was really up, easy going, and fun," said Miss Landis.

"It was sad, because it brought back memories," explained Melissa.
