

Meet Mr. Steve Larsen, science teacher, summer camping trip enthusiast, Mallow Cup lover, and expert auctioneer.

Do you like to have fun, get a little rowdy, and scream and shout? Showing school spirit is a way of showing pride in Ashley and still have all of the previously mentioned things! "Going to games and just cheering for all you're worth is a lot of fun," commented junior Brian Krueger.

The great pride in royal and gold packs people into the gym consistently, no matter what event is occurring. "It doesn't matter what game is going on I always like to go and support the guys or girls, no matter whether I'm playing or not," stated senior Ben Crocker.

Believe it or not, it's not just the students that have fun while showing spirit! "I like going to the basketball and football games and spazing out; it's really a blast," said Mrs. Jean Murdock.

"I think every student, faculty member, and parent should come out to the sporting events and show their "Bear Pride" as much as possible," said Brian.

Neil Johnston

show some spirit

WEIRD! Tracie Turner, Cody Osborn, Brandie Burgett, Lisa Maeir, Beth Schulz, and Jenni Porter make a human pyramid after a "Student Prosicuter" tells them to. "I thought being a Dot for the sociology class was fun even though it was hard work," stated Jenni Porter.

AMISH PARADISE! The members of the senior class, led by John Fabus, participate in the lip sync during homecoming week festivities. John commented, "After that performance I thought we were a shoo-in for first place, but we got second. It was a lot of fun even though we didn't win first."

