Almost every day before gym class the eighth graders will take some of the seventh graders into the shower room and give them noogies," commented Joe Shaw. This is just one example of how the seventh graders are constantly being picked on by the upperclassmen.

Seventh grade isn't terrible for every new student, though; in fact, some people actually enjoy seventh grade. "I like changing classes, having different teachers, and I love having a longer lunch period," said Joe Shaw. Seventh grade isn't as bad as it appears to be; it's just one part of growing up.
