Competition. That's what it takes. And the class of '98 has it. Whenever a competition week gets organized, or any other competition, this class pulls together and comes through. This class has so much spirit, it basically pours out of their very being. Sure, they might've had a problem beating the class of '97 in float building, but they won it when it counts and took the competitions overall. That is perseverance.

When it comes down to who has the most spirit the Junior class steps up with ease to take first place. It's not just the thought of winning anymore; it's just fun.
