On your mark...get set...go!
The school year brings new beginnings, constant changes, and a chance to "Give'em something to talk about."

A start of a new school year brings many mixed emotions. For some it's the beginning of their high school career, and for others it's the beginning of the end.

Through all these different emotions there is one general theme shared in common, and that is the feeling of a new beginning, a fresh start, and the opening up of a new year.

As the new year approaches, many people wonder what it will bring. For some it's a great year in sports, and for others academic excellence. "I think it's sort of scary starting a new year, not knowing what lies ahead of you, but it's fun to look back at all the memories after the year is over," commented Kim Bush.

Opening up a new year also brings many challenges. Seeing old friends, taking new classes, and experiencing a whole new year often brings both anticipation and apprehension.

The memories made at AHS will last for a lifetime, so open yourself up, strive for the best, and, "Give 'em something to talk about".
