

W E L O P U T I N G

There's a pile of papers to be filed, a pile of papers to be copied and absence slips scattered all about! Is it a zoo? No! It's what the office looks like when sixth hour rolls around.

Office practice students are given the jobs that Mary or Mr. Schestag don't want to do, things such as carrying the box of mail from the superintendent's office, sorting it, collecting absence slips, and running all around the school delivering and collecting things.

"You get to walk around and do whatever you want. There's never any homework," said Sarah Turner.

If you think office practice can get a little hairy, you should take a look at cadet teaching.

"You get to walk around and do whatever you want. There is never any homework," stated Sarah Turner.

"I have my cadet correct the children's papers, help them with their reading, make copies, and run any other errands that I might have," said Mrs. Nancy Arnst.

Peggy Wirt commented, "I really like kids, and I'm glad that I'm able to help out."

Jessica McNamara

SMALL FRY AT WORK Sarah Turner and Annette Cermak take their turn as office girls.

Students Pitch in and lend a hand

T. Turner

J. Downs

NEED ANY HELP? "I just like to help out by doing things Mrs Reichard doesn't have time to do," said Beth Schulz.

CADET TEACHING First row: Kevin Fabus. Second row: Jodi Leiner, Jessica McNamara, Miranda Coon, Evon Sastamonien, Amy Dawson, Doug Turner. Third row: Kim Bush, Jason McCrimmon, Valerie Miller, Lisa Maier, Tracie Turner,

Turner, Beth Schulz, Mindy Wallen. Fourth row: Michelle Albring, Corey Studt, Dianne Surdock, Kristin Mephram, Angie Peters, Dan Grolimund, Tony Miller, Matt Schueller, Steve Lowell.

