

SAYING GOODBYE

to yesterday

How do you say goodbye to what we had? The good times that make us laugh outweigh the bad. As we turn another corner in our path of life, we close a chapter that we have worked on for thirteen years, and saying goodbye has proven to be a bit tough. We take with us not only what we've been taught in the classroom... lessons that have taught us independence, identity, and to strive for perfection... but also the memories that we've made with all our friends and the good times that we will never be able to forget. No one knows where our paths will lead us, or what tomorrow will bring, but knowing we've had friends to help us and guide us, our path will be easier to travel.

A SAD GOODBYE...Christina Worden recollects a few AHS memories.

Many memories have been made at AHS. In fact, most of us will look back at the good old days when we're old and gray and smile, remembering times like the lip sync winning streak, the parties, and that poor bus tire! But, most of all, we'll remember what Ashley really is and that is a great school with a caring staff in a terrific community. Tony Miller commented, "People say that these are the best times of our lives, and now that they are coming to a close, we find that it is truly hard to say goodbye to yesterday."
