

KID'S TALK

your guide to student life

Life outside of the classroom; what do students like to do? Friends and music are just a couple of the things that interact with study habits, extracurricular activities, and sports events.

"Of all the events that occurred at Ashley this year, I remember when my English class tricked Mrs. Luneack. Her lights had been flickering all day, so we turned her lights out and told her that her power had gone out. It was the funniest, because the clock worked, the computer was still on, and the lights were still on out in the hall. We didn't do our homework, instead we played games all hour," said freshman Andrew Mills. Besides playing tricks on the teachers, students do some other things. "I like to go to the football games with my friends. We have fun," stated Stacey Milliman.

Study, the word that makes everyone cringe. "I like to study alone at the last minute in study hall," said Jesse Diffin. Three out of three people asked said that they put off studying until the very last minute.

Afterschool activities. Who does what? "When I get home from school I get on the Internet and I go into the chat lines," commented Mills. What else goes on? "I like to lift weights, play sports, and just hang out with my friends," stated Diffin. "I'm also in 4H."

Whatever is going on, whether it's studying, going to sporting events, or just hanging out, friends are involved. "Right now my friends are more important to me than my family members," commented Katrina Payne. Friends, the core of every student's life. They are with you at school, after school, and a lot of the time in the evening, too. "I'd be lost without my friends," stated Payne. That basically says it all.

As I was saying...

*I get nervous for most tests. I like to study by taking notes two days before the test. Then I'll study ...

*I have a horror story like the ones they feature in YM. Once when I was in fourth grade I fell in the mud in front of my boyfriend...

*My pet peeve is people who think that they are "all that"...
