Relaxing Moments
+ Energizing Activities

Weekends are either a break from school to relax, enjoy and catch up on some z's or they are a break from school only to work at a job, study for a test, and practice for the big game on Monday. Anyway you look at them, weekends are free time, either exciting or boring.

"During school, I usually end up going out, working for my dad, and resting on Friday and Saturday. On Sunday, I go to church and then do my homework, study or practice after that," said sophomore Kristin Bornemann. "However, during the summer, I go out on Friday and Saturday and then on Sunday, I go to church in the morning and then go out that night."

As you can see, the typical student spends two-thirds of their weekend working or relaxing and one-third for enjoyment and pleasure. We know about the students, but what about the staff? Mr. Gary Schestag had this to say about his weekends: "Well, my weekends vary quite a bit. Usually, I do things around the house and take my family out to eat. However, during the summer, I go to open houses and finish up around here [school]."

The weekends for both the staff and the students are a break from school, but they only allow more time to get other work done and they hardly leave time for resting and relaxation.
