

Off to Heaven

Crowns, Castles
+ Kisses

Prom is such a special time for high schoolers. Special because of the time spent with your friends, special because it is a formal occasion full of dancing and good times.

"The best part of prom was being there with all of your friends," stated Heather Polash.

This year's prom was entitled "Stairway to Heaven." The scenery included white and baby blue castles, a white gateway, and tons of white and baby blue balloons... a very dreamlike setting.

"It was very pleasant. The decorations were nice. It was convenient where people came in because they could pick up their glasses next to the door," commented Miss Dawn Landis. The glasses Miss Landis referred to were the goblets and steins filled with nuts, mints, and blue M&M's that the promgoers received.

Usually at a dance, the last song signals the end of the night. That's not so for Dianne Surdock and Dennis Milledge. "After prom, we went back to my house and watched T.V. I cooked her breakfast," said Dennis.

How did the seniors feel since this was their last prom? Lisa Maier shared her feelings when she said, "It was kind of depressing. They played our class song at the end. It made us think about how it was our last prom."

As you can see, prom was a romantic and fulfilled night.

LOOK DEEPLY INTO MY EYES... Jonathan Whitford sweeps Laurie Jones off her feet for a good old-fashioned slow dance. "I like slow dancing the best," commented Laurie.

ROYALTY?! That's right! Seniors David Strnad and Denise Garcia are crowned Prom King and Queen. "I was really surprised," said Denise.
