

Once again

This is a night that will repeat itself over and over throughout the years, but with a different group of people each time. It will cause your emotions to run wild. It will change your life forever. You will never be the same again.

You're cruisin' down the road in your father's red Grand Am thinking about that night's events. How will it go? Will I get a standing ovation?

The questions that are going through your head are usually the questions that everybody asks the night of graduation. Other questions or thoughts that might arise are: What will happen after this? Boy, am I nervous. What's it going to be like not coming to school everyday and seeing all of my old friends?

A quick look into the mind of Carry Felton tells you that she asked those same questions. "It was scary to know I was leaving school, not being around next year to help or see anybody," commented Carry. "Everyone kept saying they couldn't believe we were really graduating."

Pretty much the only thoughts that were going through Katrina Payne's head were, "I'm going to miss everything about this school from the little talks with Mrs. Reichard to the misunderstandings with Terri Kral. You know what? I'll even miss Brian the janitor."

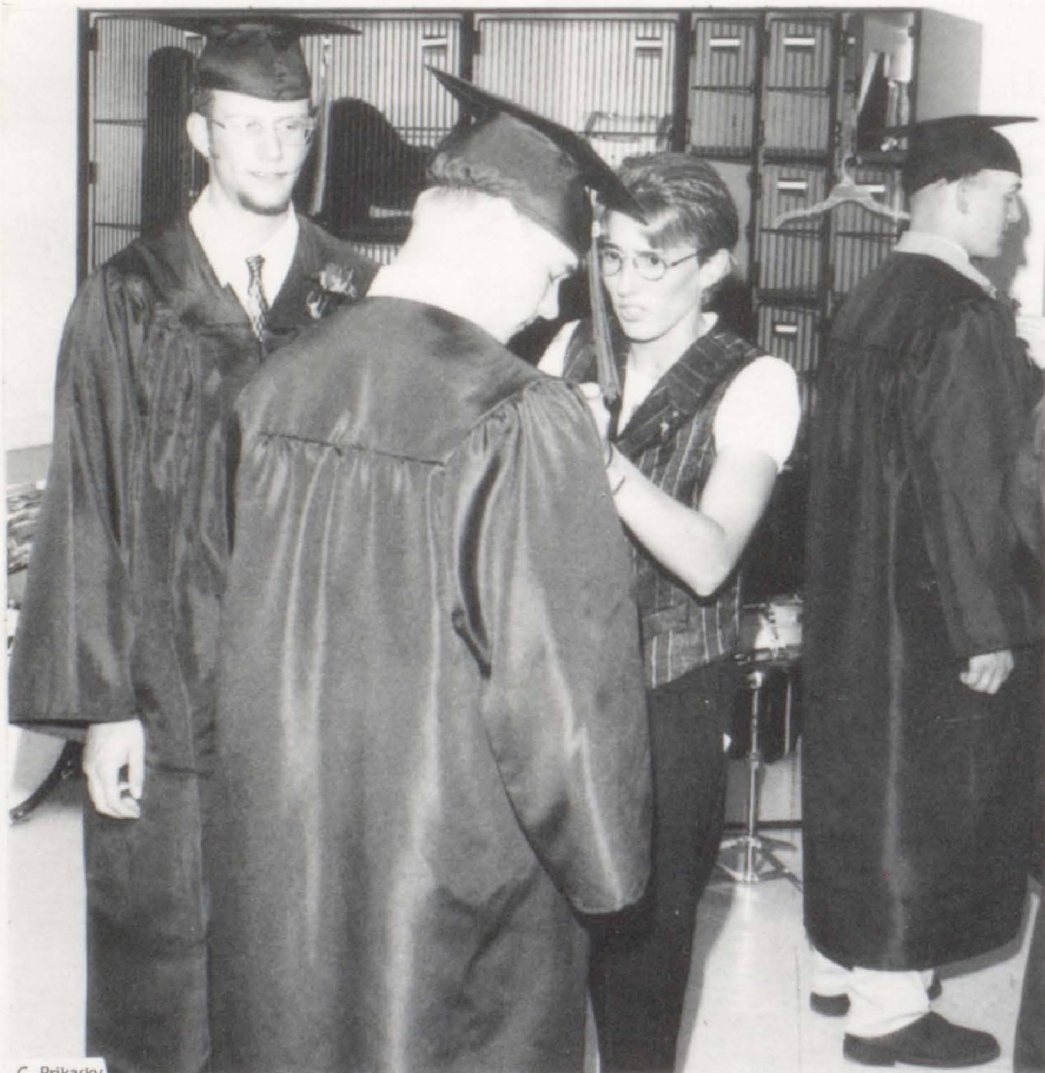

Probably the biggest disappointment to the whole graduating class was leaving their friends behind. "I grew a lot of friendships over the years and it will be hard to leave them behind," said Misty Henderson.

Mrs. Suzanne Luneack commented, "Every year it's the same. It's a little like watching your child walk away from home. I'll miss them...at least most of them."

Another 1999 graduate stated, "Even though we might never see each other again, we'll always remember the good times we've had together."

Kristin Mephram

TELL ME IF I HIT FLESH Ms. Michelle Moore pins a flower on Eric Fabus, under the supervision of Tim Claugther, as the seniors prepare to enter the gymnasium for their big night. Ms. Moore filled in as an "acting advisor" for the Class of '99.

C. Prikasky