

FUN

DEFINES HARD WORK

"NOT IN MY HOUSE!"
 Josh Adams works hard to win the ball in the beginning jump at the start of the game. The Bears took the win over Fulton, 54-46.

Whoever said hard work and fun don't mix? This year, the junior varsity basketball teams proved otherwise. For instance, the girls' team worked extra hard adjusting to a new coach with new ways, and five rookies on the team, but had lots of fun in-between. "This year we had our ups and downs, but in the end we all managed to keep our heads up and play with spirit," stated sophomore Luann Cermak. Although their record didn't show a season of success, that doesn't mean nothing was learned. "I learned that sometimes things may not go on the way you want, but in the end we are all still friends," said Corrine Felton.

On the other hand, the boys' team had a successful season with a sensational record.

"We had a pretty good season considering there were six freshman on the team, but when we needed them, they stepped up and played their hardest," said Aaron Grollimund. "If they wouldn't have been there for us, we wouldn't have been so successful."

The boys also had their share of fun. "It was fun because we didn't suffer from a bad loss, so we were never brought down by that," commented Josh Adams.

According to Tim Bates, you can have lots of fun on the court as well as back in the locker room. "We played our share of pranks on the freshmen to loosen them up, to make them feel part of the team," said Tim.

The JV basketball teams proved that hard work and fun do mix.
