

WHAT DO
YOU LIKE
MOST ABOUT
ASHLEY?

"There is not much violence. The atmosphere here is so comforting."

Sarah Johnston

"The friendliness. Almost everywhere you go you've got people saying 'Hi'."

Cassandra Richmond

"The closeness of the students in the school. How you could go to anyone and they will usually help you with anything you ask."

Vikki Turner

"Everyone knows everybody. I also like the closeness of the school."

Jesse Diffin

"Everybody gets along no matter who they are."

Jacob Harris

"The students at Ashley have good attitudes."

Alissa Czeisperger

"The way the community comes together whenever it wants to. I also like how everyone can make you feel like family."

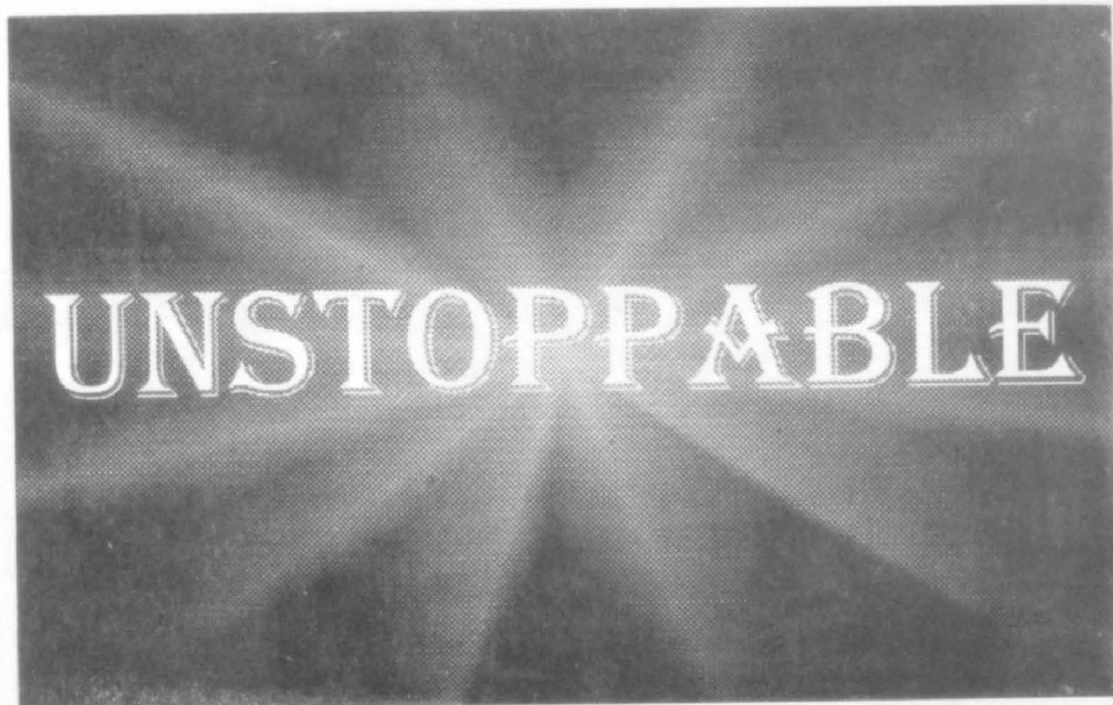

Kevin Fabus

"I like the students' sense of humor and their smiles. I also like the teachers because they are easy to talk to and they are very friendly."

Amy Cermak

RAISE THE ROOF The Ashley students show their wild side Homecoming night. "The dance was a lot of fun even after the big loss against Onekama," commented Kevin Fabus. The football team ended their season with a record of 8-2.

If these hallway walls could talk, they would tell you every name of the faces of the students and staff who have walked through these halls for the past century.

These walls could also tell you of our losses here at Ashley. The loss of fan support and the fans who have stopped coming and who are yet to be seen by these walls, if ever again. But the loss that has affected the walls most is the loss of pride.

"Students do not believe in themselves and, in turn, they do not believe in each other," commented Annette Cermak.

This year has marked a turnaround in pride throughout the school. This is proved by the excellent turnout of nine cheerleaders for football. The number of cheerleaders for basketball was not large, but the first ever pom pon squad had a great turnout of nine spirit-filled faces that would wake up the Bears who were in hibernation from the football season.

Moreover, if these walls could talk, they could tell you how when at loss, such as the passing of Rick Brzak, the students, as well as the community, pulled together and helped out his family. Another loss was when the football team lost in the playoffs to Waterford Our Lady, by a close score of 29-26.

Whether it's a win or a loss there's always someone there for you, keeping the warm, family-like atmosphere alive for many generations.

-Lyndsay Goward

I'LL SHOW YOU INTIMIDATION Tisha Stoneman guides her teammate Brittany Lautner in the game of powder puff football. The senior/sophomore team overpowered the junior/freshman team with a score of 42-16.

C. Prikasky

People
Division