What did you enjoy most about Homecoming, particularly getting third in the float building and second in the lip sync?

- ◆ Stephanie Beck: "I really enjoyed building the float. We worked really hard and had a lot of fun. I was surprised at how many people actually showed up and helped out."
- ◆ Jesse Cordray: "It shows that the seventh grade class has a good way to start junior high and that we might become good school leaders some day."
- ◆ Amber Easlick: "I enjoyed the lip sync because the people who danced in the lip sync were cool and exciting. I am glad we got second instead of seventh."
- ◆ Jeremy Gregory: "Mostly, getting second in the lip sync was fun. I enjoyed it."
- ◆ Samantha Phillips: "I enjoyed doing the lip sync the most. It was really fun for me to try to be Will Smith. The amazing thing was, that we put it together in ten minutes."
- ◆ Adam Prescott: "I was really proud of us that we accomplished those things. Usually seventh graders don't even place, but we showed them."
- ◆ Nikki Limbert: "I thought it was neat getting third in the float building and second in the lip sync because some people in the class worked really hard and it paid off. Some people didn't even think we would do that good."

LET'S PLAY David Arnold, Adam Prescott, and Amanda Lange create a game called The Real Game of High School. In this game every square says something different. For example, if you got caught looking at porno on the internet, move back 3 places. Would you like to play this game?
