

Twirp

Week 2000

TAKE THIS! Lucas Studt catches a whipped cream pie in the face from his girlfriend, cheerleader Lyndsay Goward, after he misses his shot at the Shoot for a Pie contest sponsored by the cheerleaders during Twirp Week.

D. Landis

REVENGE! Jesse Diffin returns the favor and puts a whipped cream pie in Katie Beck's face at the Shoot for a Pie contest.

Here's a pie in your face!

D. Landis

"I WAS SO SHOCKED!" exclaimed senior rep and Snowball Queen Amy Cermak. "I wish that Kevin McGillis would have got king since he was the senior rep, but I'm still happy for Aaron Grollimund."

"Yeah, I coached a fine bunch of slackers," laughed Ms. Jennifer Brown, "but I Bobby Knighted our way to victory!" During the Twirp Week basketball tournament, the teachers took first but not without reasonable suspicion of foul play.

Speaking of basketball, are you good at shooting three-pointers and half court shots? Some of the basketball players thought they were but they were soon corrected with a pie in the face. As it turned out, the cheerleaders were laughing too soon when junior Jesse Diffin had his revenge on cheerleader Katie Beck. "It wasn't fair," stated Katie Beck, "I didn't even see it coming!"

These games only led up to the big event that was on Friday night, the Snowball Dance. At the game, before the dance, Amy Cermak and Aaron Grollimund were crowned King and Queen. "I was so happy to be crowned queen, but the suspense was killing me," stated Amy Cermak. The dance was a success and so marked the end of Twirp Week 2000.

-Amy Walter