

J. Diffin

WHAT TIME IS IT? ... It's noogie time! James Polash has a little fun with Brittany Lautner after school. "He is always picking on me," stated Brittany.

The parking lot is not just for cars anymore, it's to have fun!

J. Diffin

ROLL 1, 2, 3 ... Aaron Schulz finds an opportunity to rollerblade in the empty parking lot. Many people come to the empty lot to do afterschool activities.

Parking

L

Activities

I'LL DO IT IF YOU DO... Jacob Harris does a nose dive into the mud puddle next to the parking lot. Tim Bates watches to see if he wants to attempt it. He was the next to dive.

ot

Parking lot just for cars? Some may say so, but others have a little bit of fun in the lot.

It is pretty evident that students like to have fun in the lot. Take, for example, the huge water fight that the seniors had in the parking lot on their last day of school. The parking lot is also a hotbed for other fun activities. Many students use the parking lot as a rollerblading rink, after school hours of course.

The parking lot sees a lot more action than just the fun things. It can also be a quite dangerous place to be at around 8:15 a.m., which is when most students arrive at school, and about 3:05p.m., the time when students leave school. It is very chaotic and could very easily produce a bit of a bump up. The parking lot, just in its third year of existence, has already been called "death man's curve" by some because you never know when another car could dart out at you.

Don't consider the parking lot a bad place, however. It is somewhat a place of joy and emotions. For instance, when the last bell of the day rings, the lot is home to every single expression by the exuberant students who are ecstatic about the school day ending.

So next time you speak of the parking lot, speak of what a great place it is.

-Alissa Czeiszperger