

GROOVIN' Brittany Lautner gets her groove on during one of her favorite songs at Prom.

SMOOCHAROO! Lyndsay Goward and Katie Beck show a little love to the cutest mascot around. "I just couldn't resist!" confessed Katie.

OH BOY! Stacie Deming sees that walking the line isn't so easy with the help of simulation goggles.

Here it is, the end of a year that we thought would never begin...the closing of the year 2000. Taking a look back, we realize how many good times and unforgettable memories this mystical year gave to us.

Let's start with the amazing football season we had this year. We made it to the playoffs for the first time in ten years. Accompanying this season was the largest football cheer-leading squad we've had in years. This squad truly helped bring back the spirit of AHS.

And what about the greatest new addition to our school, Jen Brown, the counselor, mmmm-kiay-? Who could forget the roll-on-the-floor-laughter she gave us in the countless sessions of "Story Time With Brown"?

Often spoken are these words: "This is the moment of a lifetime," and my friends, we have truly lived this year as such a moment. Not often can a moment last much longer than a split millisecond, but we have been fortunate enough to live one for an entire school year here at AHS.

Now that the pictures have ceased and we're left staring at a continuously flickering white screen, as we were when it first began, some believe this is the end, but for most of us, it is only the beginning.

- Angela Simone

All of the pictures have now faded away, and as we wake to begin another day, our eyes reflect upon the memories that have been etched in our minds.

WHO IS THAT?! Amy Walter stands atop her class's float in the parade during Homecoming week.

OH, JUST A LITTLE BIT HIGHER... Gina Mephram and Heather Jones do their best to transport a necklace from one neck to the other without using their hands.

THE LOOK OF DEATH Wayne McElhaney stares off into the distance while in his Halloween costume.