

J. Diffin

The heat behind the stage is unbearable as the lights flip on and the play begins. On stage, Sarah Johnston (Germaine Stacey) and Aaron Grollimund (John Stacey) are both in their places, and If a Man Answers is off to a smooth start.

The play contains many exciting moments, the first one when Stacy Densmore (Chantal Stacey) becomes engaged to three different men in one day. Other exciting moments include a move to New York for the Staceys, Aaron Schulz (Eugene Wright) being hit upside the head with a purse by "Chantal", then being hit again by "John" when he finds out that his "daughter" has gone to model for a photographer...in nothing but a negligee and a hat, "Chantal's" best friend Jill Cermak (Tina Brooks) showing up and trying to steal her new husband, and a figment of "Germaine's" imagination, a Mr. Robert Swan, really showing up.

ALL THE WORLD'S A STAGE Well, it is if you're Aaron Grollimund, that is, who can never seem to quit clowning around, even during those late, late night practices. What a guy!

For those who have never seen the play, don't worry. Despite all of these complications, the play has a happy ending.

And, despite the fact that this play was longer and more complicated than the ones the Drama Club has done in the past, it was also a happy ending for the stars of the play. They pulled off three crowd-pleasing performances.

The last performance was followed by an award presentation, during which everyone received a certificate for their hard work and dedication, and the advisor Mrs. Marilyn Gearhart was presented with a bouquet of flowers.

Brandon Beck

*Playing dress-up is fun
when it's...*

Lights, Camera, Action