

S. Baker

National Honor Society members do some role playing and become...
Santa's Secret Helpers

What do you get when you put together seven smart, caring, responsible students and a wonderful teacher? You get the National Honor Society, comprised of people who have been selected because they are responsible and care about themselves and others.

This year a couple of events the National Honor Society accomplished were a bowl-a-thon and adopting a family. They had the bowl-a-thon to raise money so they could buy presents for the adopted family.

"It wasn't about the competition, it was about raising

WORKING HARD Joe Shaw removes tags from "Santa's" gifts for some special children. "It was funny how the children were afraid of our Santa," stated Joe.

money for the adopted family," said Stacy Densmore.

Another thing they did was to go to the National Honor Society advisor Mrs. Baker's house to eat lunch and wrap the gifts. Later that day they took the presents to the adopted family.

"It was strange because the children were actually scared of me, but I could see the joy in the children's faces when they got the gifts," stated Aaron Grollimund. Aaron Grollimund was outfitted as Santa Claus, with Heather Jones as Mrs. Claus.

After the children opened their presents the National Honor Society members went home feeling very good about themselves because they had just helped a family in need.

"It was nice to be able to buy and give presents to children," commented Joe Shaw.

Rachel Billings