"As I was standing there waiting for them to announce the Snowball King and Queen, I knew everyone was staring at me, and I felt kind of stupid," stated Kari Deming. Then over the loud speaker came the announcement. "This year's 2000-2001 Snowball King and Queen are... Josh Mason and Kari Deming!"

"I was very surprised and happy," commented Josh.

This was only the beginning of an exciting evening for Kari and Josh. After the game they continued their reign at the traditional Snowball Dance. After the special snowball court dance, the rest of the student body moved onto the dance floor for a night of music and fun. "I had a good time at the dance, and I thought the DJ was pretty good," stated Stacy Densmore. Another fun moment at the dance was when the DJ stepped onto the dance floor to demonstrate the cha-cha slide. "I had fun at the dance being with my friends, even though we didn't really understand how to do the cha-cha slide," said Jessica Palmer.

Whether it was dancing with the DJ, dancing with that special person, or just "getting down," the dance was definitely "thumbs up."

TAKE IT AWAY "The DJ was sweet," states Stacy Densmore. She shows her wild side by singing and dancing to the music.

TAKE ME HOME, STUD! What's better than spending time with friends? "Nothing," says Jerad Wallen and Scott Pupava.

JUST CHILLIN' "I'll never forget the dance," says Sarah Johnston, while hanging with Amanda Prestage and Marco Nickel.
