

Bringing you some ...

Holiday Cheer

WHO IS THIS FOR? Amanda Barror writes on a name tag then puts it on a gift for the adopted family, while Cassie Richmond waits for the next present she can wrap.

When someone is in need it is too easy for others to forget about them and move on, but the members of the NHS try their best to help those who are less fortunate. They adopt a family at Christmas and help them find the holiday cheer.

"I enjoyed being able to help someone out who needed it," stated Lyndsay Goward. "This was one way I can contribute to society." The NHS members receive pledges for a bowl-a-thon they compete in. All the money raised is used to purchase gifts and groceries for the adopted family.

"Shopping for the 10 month old was a cool experience. There were so many cute things we wanted to buy for her," commented Cassandra Richmond.

The NHS goes all out for the family; they even select a fortunate member to dress up as none other than Jolly Old Santa Claus. This year lucky Lucas Studt was chosen to wear the red suit. "It was really hot but when I saw how happy the kids were I thought it was worth the sweat," confessed Lucas.

Helping someone out may be the best gift anyone can give. "I think it is good to help others out because eventually I think you will be repaid for your deed," added Joe Shaw.

-Amanda Barror

S. Baker

S. Densmore

SHOW ME THE MONEY! Heather Jones and Joe Shaw wait patiently while

Mrs. Baker pays for the two games of bowling they played for the NHS.