

The Junior High girl's had a numbers problem this year with the 8th grade and the 7th grade. The 8th grade was made up of two 8th graders and five 7th graders. The 7th grade team was made up of all 6th graders.

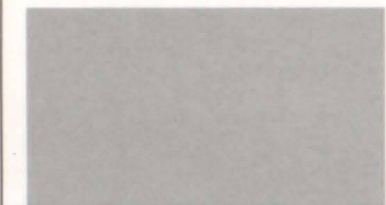

"Sometimes I tried to take over and do everything myself, but I finally realized that it was a team effort and everyone had to contribute for us to win a game." stated Barbara Gall.

Wins were not what this season was all about. Most of all this season was about teamwork, learning to get along and gaining experience.

"We played really well against some of the older girls from other teams. We were younger than them, and at times less experienced. We kicked some butt though against the older teams even though we were just 6th graders playing on a Junior High team." exclaimed Rebecca Kaufmann.

Although both teams had to work harder for everything they wanted to earn, they gained experience and will show that they improved two fold next season.
