

Chuck Prikasky

WHAT THE ... Patrick Searles tries to figure out if he is looking at a potential rebound, or a pass gone extremely wrong.

Chuck Prikasky

JAKE THE SNAKE Jake Oswald puts on a move to try to score. Jake was one of the better point guards in the league.

Chuck Prikasky

DEFENSE Troy Yelsik keeps a sharp eye on the ball as one of the main players on the defensive side, Troy was able to shut down the opposing offense.

Chuck Prikasky

BOX OUT Travis Yelsik ties to get into position to grab a rebound. Being one of the most dedicated players out on the court, I would make sure to keep an eye on this player in the future.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

Even though the record might not show it, these two teams have a world full of talent. As the years will go on they will soon begin to develop and better their skills, moves, and attitudes.

With the tradition of the weight room becoming ever more prevalent, these classes will be the first to prove to everyone that doubt that the weight room benefits more than just the game of football.

With muscle comes strength, with strength comes speed, and when you combine them soon will come victorious in any sport you play.

As these two teams get older and begin to learn the game better, their skills will become that much sharper.

With their competitiveness and will to learn, this team has a lot of growing up to do. They will soon realize that no matter how good you think you are, you can always be better.

By: Jeremy Polash

Chuck Prikasky

GRIP IT AND RIP IT John Wilson tries to tear away the ball from a Fulton defender.

Chuck Prikasky

HUSSLE Patrick Searles plays defense after a valiant effort by Josh Shaw.